The REGIONAL CLIMATE SUMMIT of Latin America and the Caribbean will serve as the first regional platform bringing together hundreds of participants to discuss the important role that carbon markets and international cooperation play in driving climate finance, enhancing ambition, and scaling greenhouse gas reductions and co-benefits across Colombia and Latin America. This Summit represents a critical milestone for Colombia, and Latin America broadly, on the road to international COP26 climate negotiations in Glasgow.
The Regional Climate Summit of Latin America and the Caribbean "Road to COP26 will convene officials from Latin American governments along with leaders from private sector, NGOs, civil society and academia, together with confirmed high-level speakers and experts – all sharing an interest in using/supporting market instruments to support country NDCs and net zero corporate commitments.
